

BPL generates significant interference with amateur radio over the wide range of 2 to 80 MHz. Not only will BPL interfere with normal amateur radio communications, it will create larger problems when these frequencies are used for emergency services during severe weather. Emergency communications in these frequency ranges will be hampered or made unusable by BPL in the area.